DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. This application does not contain an abstract of the disclosure as required by 37 CFR 1.72(b). An abstract on a separate sheet is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:
The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
3. Claim 80 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 80 does not further limit the system since it claims an intended use of the system and appears to claim a chamber of a patient's heart.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

5. Claims 69, 70, 73-81, 83, and 86 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by Abela et al.

Abela et al. teaches the claimed invention. Note figure 1, col. 7, lines 50-68, col. 8, lines 1-10, 28-38, and 47, 59-60, col. 9, lines 5-10, 30-35, 45-68, col. 10. Lines 1-55.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3737

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 71,72,82,84 and 85 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Abela et al(5,769,843).

Abela et al(5,769,843) teaches the claimed invention including inserting a catheter into a patient's heart and using echocardiography to monitor the heart and reference catheters with sensors for monitoring the heart including movement of the patients heart/chest and pressure sensors while using laser energy to ablate heart tissue. Abela et al(5,769,843) does not specifically teach monitoring a patient's ECG or a deflection means for maneuvering the catheter.

The use of ECG data to monitor the movement or phases of the cardiac cycle for medical therapeutic procedures is well known and it is equally well known to control catheter movement through the body by use of known deflection control systems.

Therefor, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include in the device of Abela et al(5,769,843) ECG data in addition to the other known methods of monitoring heart/chest movement or phase of cardiac cycles to ensure accurate positioning and timing of treatment and to use notoriously well known deflection arrangements to control movement of the catheter through the body to ensure proper catheter placement for treatment as a matter of design choice.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.
